

Grant Application

Thank you for your interest in applying for a grant! We're so glad that you're in the process of bringing home a child and we wish every family a smooth adoption journey.

We do require families to have a finalized homestudy in order to be considered for an Isaac's Buddies matching grant, but we don't have specific agency, country, or special needs requirements. However, we will be reserving our grant funds for families with the most urgent financial needs who are adopting the hardest to place children. A good rule of thumb would be to look on the "Our Buddies" page of the website. If you are adopting a child who would easily be featured among the other children there, you're likely a good candidate. If you are adopting a very young child with minor or no special needs, we are probably not the best fit and would encourage you to find grants without the specific focus we have.

We reserve the right to select the families we believe we can best serve. We do not consider age, race, marital status, religion, family size, or any other personal or cultural identifiers when selecting grant recipients.

Directions:

Please print and fill out entirely. If any part cannot be completed, please write an explanation. Send your application and a scanned copy of your completed homestudy to isaacsbuddies@gmail.com We encourage you to include a family photo and a photo of the child you're adopting if you've identified him or her, but photos are not required.

A note about homestudies: please black out social security numbers as well as all highly sensitive personal information that you're not comfortable sharing with our team.

Please do not black out your social worker's recommendations or your financial information.
